3 ACC Coach of the Year honors

7 ACC individual award winners

3 CoSIDA Academic All-Americans

10 Individual ACC titles

4 Postgraduate scholarship recipients

- Duke finished 2020-21 with seven conference championships -- tying the school record for most in an academic year and leading all ACC institutions. Duke's seven titles came in baseball, softball, women's outdoor track and field, men's and women's fencing, women's golf and men's lacrosse. The Blue Devils finished the year as the ACC leader in team titles, three clear of North Carolina and Florida State which each captured four. The Blue Devils' seven titles also matched the school record for most in an academic year that was originally set in 2000-01.
- Nina King was named Duke's next Vice President and Director of Athletics. She succeeds Kevin White, who is retiring after 13 years at Duke, on Sept. 1. Among Power 5 institutions, King joins Vanderbilt's Candice Storey Lee and Virginia's Carla Williams as Black female ADs. She is the first woman to hold the position at Duke.
- Duke posted a Graduation Success Rate (GSR) of 98 percent. The GSR is based on student-athletes who entered college as freshmen in 2010-13 and allows for the removal of those individuals from the cohort who left Duke in good academic standing. Nationally, Duke, Notre Dame and Northwestern tied for the lead among Power 5 institutions with their 98 percent GSR. A total of 17 Duke teams achieved a 100 percent GSR for the 2010-13 period: baseball, men's basketball, women's basketball, men's cross country/track & field, women's cross country/track & field, men's fencing, women's fencing, field hockey, men's golf, women's golf, women's lacrosse, rowing, men's soccer, women's soccer, men's tennis, women's tennis and volleyball.
- Nationally, the Duke football program tied with Northwestern among FBS schools with its 97 percent rate. Within the ACC, Duke's 97 percent rate was the highest and one of four schools in the 90 percent range. In men's basketball, Duke tied for the national lead with its 100 percent GSR rate.
- Duke had four players selected in the 2020 NFL draft as Michael Carter II, Victor Dimukeje, Noah Gray and Chris Rumph II were among the draftees over the course of the three-day event. The four Blue Devils chosen were the most since four choices in 1973. Duke's four picks in 2021 also set a program record for most selections within the first seven rounds.
- Senior track and field athlete Erin Marsh set the program record in the pentathlon and took home bronze at the NCAA Indoor Track and Field Championships. She is Duke's first track and field athlete to medal at the NCAA Championships since 2016.
- Duke placed an ACC-record 618 student-athletes on the 2020-21 ACC Academic Honor Roll. Duke has led the conference in ACC Honor Roll selections in 33 of the past 34 years. Among the 618 was six-time ACC Honor Roll selection, Turner Uppgren from men's lacrosse. Duke had 14 student-athletes garner the award for the fifth time in their careers. The Honor Roll is comprised of varsity student-athletes who registered a grade point average of 3.0 or better for the full academic year.
- The Atlantic Coast Conference and its Board of Directors announced in July that Duke University President Vincent E. Price will serve as the league's Chair of the Board of Directors. He will serve in that role for the next two academic years.
- Women's soccer sophomore Emmy Duerr, field hockey sophomore Josie Varney and the Duke softball team all garnered the ACC Top Six for Service award for their efforts within the Duke community during the challenging year.
- Five Blue Devil fencers garnered ACC Fencer of the Year awards in their weapons. Huda Aldadah (Epee), Alex Gorman (Saber) and Zoe Superville (Foil) each earned the honor on the women's side, while Finn Hossfeld (Foil) and Stephen Kim (Saber) picked up the accolades on the men's. Duke fencing head coach Alex Beguinet was named the ACC Women's Fencing Coach of the Year.
- Three Blue Devils were named CoSIDA Academic All-Americans - Brittany Aveni (women's track & field), Delaney Graham (women's soccer), Finn Hossfeld (men's fencing).
- A total of 16 with Duke connections - either coaches, former student-athletes or Duke alumni - participated in nine sports across seven nations in the 2020 Tokyo Olympics to mark the largest number of Blue Devils appearing in a single Olympic competition. Gold medals went to Quinn of the Canadian women's soccer team, former basketball stars Jayson Tatum and Chelsea Gray of the U.S. men's and women's basketball teams, while Duke women's basketball coach Kara Lawson led the USA women's 3x3 basketball to gold.
- Duke had four student-athletes garner postgraduate scholarships. Rakavius Chambers (football), Meible Chi (women's tennis) and Caroline Olsen (rowing) each were named Weaver-James-Corrigan Award recipients. Michael Rothenberg (baseball) was an honorary selection.
- Senior Gina Kim was named the ACC Women's Golf Scholar Athlete of the Year following her stellar season on and off the course. She became the sixth different Blue Devil to garner the accolade.
- The Duke men's basketball creative content team won a Sports Video Group award for the third consecutive year as the program's popular series, Duke Blue Planet, was named Outstanding Program Series in College Athletics for the second time in three years. The Duke Blue Planet series, which was also honored with the same SVG award during its debut season in 2019, annually features the Blue Devils with exclusive and authentic content.

KEVIN WHITE ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

Kevin White, Duke's vice president and director of athletics, will retire in August from the position he has held since 2008, university officials announced in January 2021.

White will continue to serve as an adjunct professor at Duke's Fuqua School of Business, where he teaches a popular course on sports business.

"This unequivocally represents the most difficult professional decision that I have ever made," said White. "As I look forward to completing my 47th year in higher education, including teaching, coaching, and administration, it is simply the right time to step aside and provide a distinct opportunity for both new and different voices, and a more contemporary vision."

White is one of the most experienced, distinguished and honored athletic directors in college sports and oversees a program that includes 27 varsity sports, more than 700 student-athletes, more than 300 coaches and staff, and a physical education and recreation program that touches nearly every Duke student. Under his leadership, Duke has captured eight NCAA championships - women's tennis in 2009, men's basketball in 2010 and 2015, men's lacrosse in 2010, 2013 and 2014, and women's golf in 2014 and 2019 - and 23 ACC titles. In all, 190 Duke squads advanced to NCAA postseason competition during White's Duke tenure. Duke annually ranks among the top institutions in the Learfield Sports Directors' Cup standings, which reflect an institution's all-around strength in intercollegiate athletics.

White's commitment to academic success is reflected in the strong performance of Duke student-athletes in the classroom and in national measures. In the 2019-20 academic year, 24 of 27 Blue Devil varsity teams earned grade point averages of 3.0 or better during the fall and spring semesters, and Duke established a new league record with 570 ACC Honor Roll selections. Duke has also consistently been at or near the top of the NCAA's Graduation Success Rate and Academic Performance Rate reports, which measure achievement at all NCAA schools, and Duke student-athletes have won Rhodes, Marshall and Fulbright scholarships.

"To be sure, I have been so lucky to serve a number of world class institutions, a zillion terribly gifted student-athletes, the very best coaches in the business, amazing administrative teams and highly successful departments, as well as countless of the most committed benefactors and fans, while being most graciously supported by fellow administrative and faculty colleagues, and specifically, eight college and university presidents," White said. "Given that, I must convey a very special thank you to Dick Brodhead, who very generously invited me to serve Duke University, and to Vince Price, who inherited a senior citizen Vice President/Director of Athletics and could not have been more supportive and personally accommodating."

"Finally, I must convey a public thank you to my spouse, Jane, with whom I began athletics career back in 1973 as a highly enthusiastic teaching and coaching duo! And, I also want to thank our kids, all five of whom have become esteemed educators in their own rights. Given that, this journey has been extremely gratifying, as well as deeply rewarding."

White came to Duke after leading the University of Notre Dame's athletics program for eight years. He previously served as athletics director at Arizona State University, Tulane University, the University of Maine and Loras College in Iowa. He is currently a member of the United States Olympic and Paralympic Committee (USOPC) Board of Directors and has served in nearly every major leadership role in intercollegiate athletics, including as president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), president of the Division I-A Athletic Directors Association, and chair of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Committee.

His awards and honors include the NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision Under Armour AD of the Year Award, the National Football Foundation's John L. Toner Award, Sports Business Journal's Athletic Director of the Year Award, Bobby Dodd AD of the Year, and the Carl Maddox Sports Management Award.

A graduate of St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Ind., where he competed as a sprinter, White earned a master's degree in athletics administration from Central Michigan University and a Ph.D. in higher education administration from Southern Illinois University. He completed postdoctoral work at Harvard University's Institute for Educational Management. White began his coaching career at Gulf High School in New Port Richey, Fla., coaching cross country and track and assisting in football and wrestling.

"Kevin White has been, throughout his extraordinary career, a dynamic and impactful leader in intercollegiate athletics and higher education. His magnificent accomplishments as vice president and director of athletics at Duke built upon an already-secure legacy as a luminary in the world of sport. Kevin has been a treasured member of our senior leadership team, remarkable for his unwavering commitment to our scholar-athletes and to the collaborative pursuit of excellence on and off the field of competition."

Vincent Price, President, Duke University

"Kevin White is legendary in every sense of the word. Legends like Dr. White have stories of their accomplishments shared and told by many, many people. During our time here at Duke, we would not have had any chance to move the needle with the football program without the talent, drive, and work ethic of Dr. White. He is, without doubt, the most talented individual I've encountered during my career in athletics. Karen and I wish he and Jane all the best in retirement; they've earned some real beach time! Our gratitude and well wishes extend to the entire family -- children, their spouses, and grandchildren. Thank you, Dr. White, for making it all happen! Go Duke!"

David Cutcliffe, Head Football Coach, Duke University

"I have absolutely loved working with Kevin the past 13 years. He's made Duke Basketball and me better. He's made Duke Athletics and Duke University better. He's made all of intercollegiate athletics better for 47 years. No one in college athletics has mentored as many people as Kevin White. Simply put, he is the very best in the business. While I will miss working day-to-day with Kevin immensely, my family and I are so thankful for the amazing friendship and strong partnership we've enjoyed with both Kevin and Jane."

Mike Krzyzewski, Head Men's Basketball Coach, Duke University

"College athletics will miss Kevin White. He has been a North Star his entire career and has proven to be one of the best athletic directors in the country for decades. Kevin is a tremendous friend and colleague who I have relied on for counsel on numerous occasions over the years. Simply put, there is no one I respect more. I congratulate Kevin on a truly extraordinary career. Nora and I wish he and Jane all the best in their next chapter."

NINA KING NAMED DUKE'S NEXT VP AND AD

Nina King will be the next Vice President and Director of Athletics at Duke University, President Vincent E. Price announced May 19. King is currently Duke's senior deputy director of athletics for administration and legal affairs and chief of staff. She will succeed Kevin M. White, who is retiring after 13 years in the post, on September 1.

"I am thrilled that Nina will be our Vice President and Director of Athletics," said Price. "In her time at Duke, Nina has demonstrated extraordinary leadership, earning the esteem of our coaches, student-athletes, athletics staff and colleagues in athletics departments across the country. Nina is recognized as a committed advocate for inclusive excellence in collegiate athletics, and she has represented Duke on committees of the NCAA, ACC and many other national organizations. I can imagine no better person to carry on Kevin White's exceptional record at Duke."

"First, I am extremely grateful to President Price for providing me with this incredible opportunity to lead the very best athletics department in the country," said King. "Additionally, I'd like to express my sincere appreciation to Rick Wagoner, Valerie Ashby and the search committee for their belief in me and generous support. I am deeply committed to continuing the strong tradition of academic and athletic excellence at our world-class institution. My priority will be to ensure that the experience is truly elite for our student-athletes, coaches, staff and the entire Duke family. This is a tremendous honor, and I look forward to ushering Duke Athletics into the next chapter."

King was selected for the position following a national search that was led by G. Richard Wagoner, former chair of the Duke Board of Trustees, and a committee that included Duke trustees, administrators, faculty and current and former student-athletes.

Among Power 5 institutions, King joins Vanderbilt's Candice Storey Lee and Virginia's Carla Williams as Black female directors of athletics. She is the first woman to hold the position at Duke.

"I am excited to work with Nina in this new role," added Valerie Ashby, Dean of Duke's Trinity College of Arts and Sciences, who served as vice chair of the search committee. "Her commitment to the academic and life success of our student-athletes is inspiring. She is a teacher and a mentor who will only advance Duke's culture of intellectual rigor and integrity."

COACH K ANNOUNCES 2021-22 AS FINAL SEASON; DUKE TAPS SCHEYER TO LEAD

Duke men's basketball head coach Mike Krzyzewski, who has won more Division I men's college basketball games than any coach in history, announced in June that the 2021-22 season will be his final year of coaching.

"My family and I view today as a celebration," said Krzyzewski. "Our time at both West Point and Duke has been beyond amazing and we are thankful and honored to have led two college programs at world-class institutions for more than four decades. That, coupled with 11 unforgettable years as the United States National Team coach, has resulted in a remarkable journey. Certainly, I have been blessed to coach some of the finest young men and greatest players in basketball history as a direct result of these unique opportunities. For us, there is no greater joy than being part of our players' respective endeavors through basketball, and more importantly, their lives off the court. Our family is eternally grateful to everyone who contributed to our career for the past 46 years. So, to the countless members of our extended family, thank you very much."

Jon Scheyer, who played under Krzyzewski from 2006 to 2010 and was a captain of the 2010 national championship team, has been named Krzyzewski's successor and will be the program's 20th head coach beginning with the 2022-23 season. One of the most respected assistant coaches in college basketball, Scheyer has spent eight years on Krzyzewski's staff and was promoted to associate head coach in 2018.

"Duke University has been a central part of my life for more than a decade, and I could not ask for a better place to continue my career," said Scheyer. "This is absolutely humbling. First, I offer extreme gratitude to the greatest coach of all time whose career is unrivaled in basketball. Coach K has built the premier program in our sport thanks to his unwavering competitive edge, a tireless attention to detail, a family-first approach and a remarkable compassion and care of his players, coaches, and staff. He has set a standard that every coach at every level should strive to achieve."

Scheyer will join a fraternity of Coach K's former Duke players or assistants who are now head coaches that includes Tommy Amaker (Harvard), Kenny Blakeney (Howard), Mike Brey (Notre Dame), Jeff Capel (Pittsburgh), Chris Collins (Northwestern), Johnny Dawkins (Central Florida), Bobby Hurley (Arizona State), Nate James (Austin Peay), Greg Paulus (Niagara), Mike Schrage (Elon) and Quin Snyder (NBA's Utah Jazz). Nearly two dozen other former Coach K players, assistants and staffers are currently college basketball assistant coaches or serving in NBA front offices.

HIGHLIGHTS & HEADLINES

DUKE LEADS ACC; TIES SCHOOL RECORD WITH 7 ACC TITLES

Duke finished 2020-21 with seven conference championships -- tying the school record for most in an academic year and leading all ACC programs this year.

Duke's seven team titles in 2020-21 also include baseball, softball, women's outdoor track and field, men's and women's fencing, women's golf and men's lacrosse. The Blue Devils finish the year as the ACC leader in team titles, three clear of North Carolina and Florida State which each captured four.

The Blue Devils seven titles also match the school record for most in an academic year that was originally set in 2000-01. That year, Duke earned conference championships in men's cross country, men's basketball, women's basketball, women's golf, men's lacrosse, men's tennis and women's tennis.

Duke becomes just the third ACC program to sweep the baseball and softball championships in the same season, joining Florida State (1995, 1997, 2004, 2015, 2017, 2018) and Georgia Tech (2005, 2012). The only Power 5 conference institution to sweep the baseball and softball titles this season, Duke joins McNeese State (Southland Conference) as the only Division-I schools to sweep the baseball and softball conference titles this season.

The championships for softball and women's outdoor track and field marked the first in those programs' histories, while the baseball title is the school's fourth, but first in the tournament format. Earlier this season, Duke swept the fencing titles as the men's program won its second conference championship (2018) and the women's program its first. The ACC title for women's golf was the program's 22nd all-time, which now leads all Duke programs, just ahead of men's basketball (21). The league championship for men's lacrosse marked the program's ninth.

With 139 ACC titles all-time, Duke is now tied for third among active programs, trailing only North Carolina (285) and Virginia (144). NC State (139), Clemson (135) and Florida State (101) are the only other current ACC programs with 100 or more.

NOLAN SMITH RECOGNIZED FOR ACTIVISM AND COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT

Nolan Smith, who helped lead Duke men's basketball to the 2010 national championship as a player and is now an assistant coach for the team, was named the Raleigh News & Observer's citizen of the month for October.

The "Tar Heel of the Month" award bestowed upon Smith honors those who have made significant contributions to North Carolina and the region. His involvement with basketball gave Smith a bigger platform, especially in the Triangle.

Smith was also honored in 2020 as a George H.W. Bush Points of Light Inspiration honoree for "his activism and community outreach efforts during the recent social justice movement. In August, Smith organized a rally on campus, has spearheaded voter-registration efforts and led multiple peaceful protests around the city. The former team captain and ACC Player of the Year also attended a summit with Durham public officials and was invited by Durham Mayor Steve Schewel to serve as a community leader.

$6 MILLION GIFT SUPPORTS ATHLETICS DURING COVID AND IMPROVES EQUITY

When the global pandemic brought a swift and sudden end to the 2020 spring athletics season, one alumnus wondered if there was anything he could do to help lessen the blow. Matt Andresen, a Duke University alumnus and member of the men's fencing team who competed in epee from 1989-93, was already concerned about the effect of COVID-19 on the university, but he was especially concerned about how this experience would affect its student-athletes.

"When the world shut down, it did not take much imagination to realize that this was going to have a profound impact on the student experience and with student-athletes," Andresen said. "Those are the times where you're needed. People have to step up. I'm not the only one, but I felt certainly an obligation to be one of those people."

Andresen's $6 million gift to Duke Athletics will support a wide range of athletics programs and provide essential funding for daily operations that were impacted due to COVID-19. The gift also establishes a new endowment named in honor of Claudius Barrett "C.B." Claiborne, the first Black student-athlete to play men's basketball at Duke. Both priorities are front and center for the university as it seeks simultaneously to battle the coronavirus and to launch a bold slate of anti-racism efforts.

"Matt's generosity benefits Duke Athletics in a number of ways," said Kevin White, vice president and director of athletics at Duke. "As a former student-athlete, he is truly a role model and exemplar, and this particular gift touches areas across the entire Duke Athletics program."

A BOOST FOR STUDENT-ATHLETES

Andresen's gift ensures that student-athletes, regardless of whether they are competing or not, can still receive the support they need.

"Without a doubt, the highest priority, by far, is the health and safety of the student-athletes," said White. "However, the life lessons learned via collegiate athletics do not stop simply if games are not played. Putting a supreme emphasis on behavioral health and wellbeing is non-negotiable, especially within this particularly challenging time."

HONORING A PIONEER AND WORKING FOR EQUITY

While Andresen's gifts sustain athletics programs at present, he also sought to establish longevity for Duke Athletics' future, finding inspiration in the legacy of C.B. Claiborne. Andresen established an endowment named after Claiborne in recognition of his significant role and contribution to Duke's history as the first Black student-athlete to play for Duke men's basketball.

Claiborne attended Duke on a university presidential scholarship in 1965-69. He enrolled two years after Duke admitted the first five Black undergraduate students. He played as varsity guard his junior and senior year, integrating the men's basketball program under then-head coach Vic Bubas.

"He could have gone anywhere, but he came to Duke and he did it with this incredible quiet dignity," said Andresen. "I feel that in everything about him, and that seemed worthy of honor."

HIGHLIGHTS & HEADLINES

DUKE RECEIVES 1.5 MILLION GIFT FOR BEHAVIORAL HEALTH PROJECT

Duke University received a $1.5 million gift to expand and enhance behavioral health and wellness for Duke student-athletes in December of 2020.

The endowed gift from Danny Katz, a 1980 alumnus, and his wife Nancy, enables Duke Athletics' Behavioral Health Department to expand its support for student-athletes. In recognition of the gift, the project will be named The Katz Family Behavioral Health & Wellness Project for Student-Athletes.

Director of Duke Athletics Behavioral Health Shawn Zeplin acknowledges the increased public awareness of mental health has led to greater public acceptance.

"In recent years, prominent figures – professional athletes in particular – have become more vocal about the importance of seeking support for their behavioral health," Zeplin said. "This has empowered collegiate student-athletes to be more aware of their needs, and, combined with the effects of a global health pandemic, have resulted in a significantly greater demand for services."

With this new funding, Duke will allocate resources to conduct research on the effectiveness of the behavioral health project. It will also enable other wellness activities, such as delivering suicide prevention education and purchasing technology for enhanced evaluation of student-athletes.

Under the direction of Zeplin, this project will enhance wellness services to deliver additional initiatives including the development of proactive programming and group treatment opportunities for student-athletes, as well as educational seminars for coaches and staff. The project will also launch a "Mental Wealth" series to promote awareness and wellness throughout the athletics program.

"Our sincerest gratitude goes out to the Katz family for making this their mission and offering support to an often-overlooked aspect of student-athlete life," Zeplin said. "Student-athletes have already voiced the importance of support during their time at Duke. This gift will enable students to leave Duke with more comprehensive support and holistic development."

GILES-HARRIS, KIM GARNER PNC ACHIEVERS AWARD

Duke men's lacrosse senior JT Giles-Harris and women's golf junior Gina Kim have been named Duke's PNC Achievers Student-Athletes of the Year.

Giles-Harris and Kim excelled in their respective sports as well as in the classroom for the Blue Devils during the 2020-21 season as both the men's lacrosse and women's golf programs advanced to the NCAA semifinals.

Earning USILA All-America first team recognition for the second time, Giles-Harris was the anchor to Duke's defense with 18 caused turnovers and 28 ground balls. He garnered his second career All-ACC award in 2021 and ranked second among non-faceoff specialists with 34 ground balls.

One of the hottest golfers in the nation to conclude the season, Kim placed in the top 11 of her final four stroke play events, including a tied for fifth finish at the NCAA Championship with rounds of 74, 67, 72 and 73 for a 2-under, 286. Kim earned All-America recognition for the third time and All-ACC recognition for the second time in her career, while also claiming the ACC Individual Championship in 2021.

HOWARD WINS PRESIDENTIAL AWARD

Michael Howard, Managing Director of Recreation Facilities for Duke's Recreational & Physical Education department, was honored with a Presidential Award by the university.

The Presidential Awards program, organized by the Office of the President in partnership with Duke Human Resources, recognizes individuals and teams from the university and health system who best demonstrate the values that define and shape Duke as an institution.

As Duke students returned to campus in the fall of 2020, Howard's job was to figure out how to allow them to exercise safely in the Wilson Recreation Center. With Howard leading the charge, the Duke Rec team implemented a plan that covered cleaning protocols, spacing policies and a scheduling system that allowed students to reserve times to work out. And as the events of 2020 sparked dialogue on issues of race, Howard consistently lent his voice to campus committees and initiatives aimed at social justice.

COACH K, DUKE HONORED WITH NATIONAL MAKE-A-WISH AWARD

Make-A-Wish America, in conjunction with the Make-A-Wish chapter in Eastern North Carolina, presented the 2020 Chris Greicius Award to Duke men's basketball head coach Mike Krzyzewski and the Duke men's basketball program. This award recognizes the exceptional wish-granting support exemplified by Coach K and the team in helping create life-changing wish experiences for children fighting critical illness.

The Blue Devils became the first collegiate program nationally to earn the honor that has been presented since 1990 to organizations and individuals such as the Green Bay Packers, the New York Yankees, Luke Bryan, Katy Perry, Justin Bieber, Dave Matthews Band, Garth Brooks, Stephen Curry, and many others.

Coach K and the Duke men's basketball program partner with Make-A-Wish to create once-in-a-lifetime moments for wish kids, inviting them into the Duke family, enabling them to see the world as a Duke Blue Devil basketball player, and empowering them to believe the impossible is possible.

The Chris Greicius Award honors the excellence shown in support of wish kids and creating life-changing wish experiences. Coach K and the team have been granting wishes for over a decade -- nine wishes since 2012 alone -- the most recent being an incredible wish experience for Make-A-Wish New Jersey wish kid Antonio Sellers, whose wish to attend a Duke vs. North Carolina basketball game at Cameron Indoor Stadium was granted this past March.

This wish received extensive regional and national coverage and serves as the most recent example of the dedicated time and compassion given to each child who has requested to meet Coach K. Granting wishes can be a turning point in a child's fight against their illness or a celebration of knowing that their darkest moments are behind them.

ACC TOP SIX FOR SERVICE

Emmy Duerr (top, women's soccer) and Josie Varney (bottom, field hockey), along with the softball team, were honored with an ACC Top Six for Service Award, an honor presented annually to members of each ACC institution who demonstrate dedication to community service and outreach programs.

Recipients of the award are selected for demonstrating outstanding community service and community relations. A Top Six for Service award recipient should be dedicated to serving others and have shown a passion for enriching the lives of others.

2020 OLYMPIC NOTEBOOK

- The 2020 Tokyo Olympic Games concluded in August and with it saw standout performances by a record-number of Duke Blue Devils to compete in a single Olympics.
- A total of 16 with Duke connections - either coaches, former student-athletes or Duke alumni - participated in nine sports across seven nations to mark the largest number of Blue Devils appearing in a single Olympic competition.
- Gold medals went to Quinn of the Canadian women's soccer team, former basketball stars Jayson Tatum and Chelsea Gray of the U.S. men's and women's basketball teams, while Duke women's basketball coach Kara Lawson led the USA women's 3x3 basketball team to gold.
- Additionally, Jessica Springsteen '14 helped the U.S. women's equestrian team to a silver, while former Blue Devil Morgan Pearson took silver as part of the United States mixed triathlon relay.
- Duke has had a former player compete in the Olympics in each of the last seven summer games, including multiple Blue Devils in two of the last three and three of the last six. Duke's previous record for a single Olympics was 11 participating in the 2016 Games in Rio.

DUKE IN THE DRAFTS

- Duke had 14 former student-athletes drafted in their respective professional drafts, including first round selections Jalen Johnson (NBA, Atlanta Hawks), Aedan Stanley (MLS, Austin FC), Michael Sowers (PLL, Waterdogs LC) and JT Giles-Harris (PLL, Chrome LC).
- Duke University men's lacrosse standouts Michael Sowers and JT Giles-Harris were selected No. 2 and No. 3, respectively, in the 2021 Premier Lacrosse League College Draft. Sowers was taken No. 2 overall by Waterdogs, while Giles-Harris joined a host of former Blue Devils on Chrome. This marks just the second college draft where Blue Devils were eligible as the first PLL draft was held in 2019.
- Duke had four players selected in the 2020 NFL draft as Michael Carter II, Victor Dimukeje, Noah Gray and Chris Rumph II were among the draftees over the course of the three-day event. The four Blue Devils chosen were the most since four choices in 1973. Duke's four picks in 2021 also set a program record for most selections within the first seven rounds.
- Former Duke men's basketball player Jalen Johnson was selected in the first round of the 2021 NBA Draft, becoming the 101st draft selection in program history and allowing head coach Mike Krzyzewski to extend his NBA Draft record to 42 first-rounders. Duke has had at least one player selected in 34 of the 41 drafts under Krzyzewski, including at least one in 11 consecutive drafts. In that span since 2011, 28 Blue Devils have been drafted. Coach K's 42 first-round selections remain a Draft record.
- Duke baseball had five players selected in the 2021 Major League Baseball Draft. Junior Ethan Murray was the highest choice at No. 147 in the fifth round to the Milwaukee Brewers. Murray's fifth round selection gave Duke a top five round pick for the eighth time in the previous nine drafts. Duke's five selections in the top 20 rounds tied the school record.

THE DIRECTORS' CUP

The Directors' Cup rankings measure an athletic program's comprehensive sports success by totaling points based on a team's finish in national competition.

SUMMARY

- Coming off an unprecedented athletic year in which the Learfield IMG College Directors' Cup was not awarded due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Duke placed 21st in the 2020-21 standings, securing a place among the top 25 schools for the 17th time in the last 18 years that the award has been given out.
- With 831.50 total points, the Blue Devils surpassed the 800-point mark for the 15th time in the last 16 years. Duke finished fifth among ACC schools in 2020-21, trailing North Carolina (4th), Virginia (11th), Notre Dame (14th) and Florida State (16th). Duke was also the fifth-leading private institution behind Stanford, USC, Notre Dame and BYU.
- The Learfield Directors' Cup was developed as a joint effort between the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) and USA Today. Points are awarded based on each institution's finish in NCAA Championships. Nineteen total teams can earn points for the final standings, four of which must be baseball, men's basketball, women's basketball and volleyball.

ACADEMIC SUCCESS

SUMMARY

- The University's academic support oversight committee continued to review and discuss "best practices" for providing academic support to the student-athlete population while analyzing student-athlete data related to Independent Study registrations, course enrollment limits, course withdrawals, underloads, majors and grade point average.
- Sixteen Duke student-athletes - Brittany Aveni (women's track & field), Jake Bobo (football), Elena Brown-Soler (women's track & field), Michael Carter II (football), Rakavius Chambers (football), Deja Davis (softball), Matt Dockman (baseball), Matthias Frick (men's soccer), Julia Gianneschi (women's fencing), Delaney Graham (women's soccer), Finn Hossfeld (men's fencing), Jameson Kavel (softball), Evan Lee (men's track & field), Kiegan Lenihan (men's track & field), Joey Loperfido (softball), RJ Schreck (baseball) - earned CoSIDA Academic All-District III honors.
- Three Blue Devils - Brittany Aveni (women's track & field), Delaney Graham (women's soccer) and Finn Hossfeld (men's fencing) earned CoSIDA Academic All-America accolades.
- Rakavius Chambers (football), Meible Chi (women's tennis), Michael Rothenberg (baseball, honorary) and Carolina Olsen (rowing) received ACC Postgraduate Scholarship recognition.
- Statistics for the Graduation Success Rate (GSR) released by the NCAA indicated that 98 percent of freshmen student-athletes receiving scholarship aid, or recruited individuals participating in programs that do not offer athletic aid, graduated from Duke within six years. The GSR is based on student-athletes who entered college as freshmen in 2010-13 and allows for the removal of those individuals from the cohort who left Duke in good academic standing. A total of 17 Duke teams achieved a 100 percent GSR for the 2010-13 period - baseball, men's basketball, women's basketball, men's cross country/track & field, women's cross country/track & field, men's fencing, women's fencing, field hockey, men's golf, women's golf, women's lacrosse, rowing, men's soccer, women's soccer, men's tennis, women's tennis and volleyball.
- Duke made history in 2020-21 for the third year in a row, setting an ACC record with 615 ACC Academic Honor Roll selections. The Blue Devils have led the conference in honorees for 33 of the previous 34 years. The Honor Roll is comprised of varsity student-athletes who registered a grade point average of 3.0 or better for the full academic year.

HEIDRICK SCHOLARSHIPS AWARDED

Recent Duke student-athletes Meible Chi and Madison Dunk were named recipients of the Heidrick Family Leadership Post Graduate Scholarships.

The Heidrick Family Leadership Post Graduate Scholarships were established through a generous gift by Bob Heidrick and his family. The recipients are chosen not only for what they have contributed to the leadership community within Duke Athletics but also by who they are as people, how they have grown in the area of leadership and how they have used their leadership development to enhance the community during their undergraduate career at Duke University.

The selection is viewed as an investment in the individual rather than on the athletic accomplishment of the individual. It is the investment in the excellence of his/her character, in the qualities of leadership possessed by the individual, commitment to others and the potential for service through outstanding leadership in the future.

Two Scholarships will be awarded in the amount $10,000 each to two graduating Duke student-athletes. The funds are to be applied toward the continuation of their academic endeavors at the graduate or professional school level. Funds must be used within three years of each recipient's graduation from Duke University.

Chi, a three-time All-ACC selection and 2021 ITA All-America, completed a stellar career this season with the women's tennis program. She was a three-time NCAA singles qualifier and a 2021 NCAA doubles qualifier with teammate Margaryta Bilokin. A product of Weston, Fla., Chi helped lead the Blue Devils into the NCAA quarterfinals this year and was a part of two NCAA semifinal appearances over her career. She set a Duke career record with 42 ACC singles wins and finished her career with 136 all-time wins to rank fourth on the Blue Devil charts. Chi received the 2020 ITA Arthur Ashe Jr. Leadership and Sportsmanship Award and is a two-time All-ACC Academic Team selection.

Dunk has been an active member of the Duke women's lacrosse team on and off the field the last four years and saw action in 23 contests as an attacker. She concluded her undergraduate career with eight points to her name (five goals, three assists) and was part of the 2021 squad that saw the program's 20th NCAA Tournament appearance. The Durham, N.C., native also excelled in the classroom as a two-time ACC Academic Honor Roll selection and graduated in May with a psychology major and minors in chemistry and Asian middle eastern studies.

ATHLETIC MEDICINE & BEHAVIORAL HEALTH

ATHLETIC MEDICINE MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Duke University Athletic Medicine department is to provide our student-athletes with the highest quality care for their physical, mental and overall well-being. With our dedicated team of Certified Athletic Trainers, Team Physicians, Physical Therapists, Sports Dietitians and Clinical and Sport Psychologists, we are able to provide a multidisciplinary treatment approach in prevention, recognition, treatment and rehabilitation of physical injuries and illness for our 21 varsity teams. Highlighted by bio-mechanical assessments, thorough evaluations and manual therapies, every athlete will receive a compressive plan of care where they are educated and actively involved in their recovery.

As an integral part of maintaining and improving the care we provide, we are committed to the continued professional growth of our staff by staying current in fields of research, technology and pursuing continual education. We strive to enhance the student-athlete experience by returning athletes to play as quickly and safely as possible through values of respect, privacy, integrity and diversity.

DUKE SPORTS SCIENCE INSTITUTE

The James R. Urbaniak, MD, Sports Sciences Institute, located on the Center for Living campus, has been a national leader in the treatment of athletic injuries and the health care provider for Duke Athletics. Under the leadership of Chief Medical Officer Dr. Ned Amendola and Head Medical Team Physician Dr. Jeff Bytowski, the group of physicians at Duke Sports Science Institute continues to provide the highest standard of health care and meet the immediate needs of Blue Devil student-athletes.

ATHLETIC MEDICINE COMPREHENSIVE CARE

The Duke Athletic Training Department offers an individualized multidisciplinary approach to care for each student-athlete on Duke's 21 varsity teams. The licensed medical professionals within the department recognize the health, safety and well-being as the priority for the student-athletes. To create the highest standard of care, Duke Athletic Training employs a diverse staff across a multitude of medicine disciplines, including:

- Certified Athletic Trainers
- Team Physicians
- Physical Therapists
- Sport Psychologists
- Clinical Psychologists
- Sport Dietitians

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Duke Athletics Behavioral Health Department is to foster an environment that promotes mental wellness in sports, academics and life. In addition to providing direct care, we are committed to changing the conversation around mental health, eradicating the stigma for seeking mental health care and educating student-athletes and staff on the influence of mental health and wellness.

SERVICES OFFERED

The Duke Athletics Behavioral Health Department meets with student-athletes in individual and group settings to provide mental wellness support and education. In conjunction with other support areas such as Athletic Medicine, Sports Nutrition, Sports Performance, Academics and Student-Athlete Development, we aim to provide comprehensive and integrated care for the student-athletes. We also consult with coaches and other Athletic Department staff, providing guidance and tools to support wellness and advance the overall experience of the student-athlete.

BEHAVIORAL HEALTH DURING COVID-19

By the Numbers

We were fortunately able to move to a virtual, remote option to maintain our services during the pandemic, providing both individual- and group-level support. We saw a 31% increase in the number of team meetings facilitated and a 53% increase in utilization for one-on-one meetings from the previous academic year.

2021: 2,306 total individual sessions, 206 team sessions

2020: 1,515 total individual, 157 team

Enhanced Support

In addition to providing more individual and team meetings, we offered specific programming that catered to student-athlete needs. In the fall, we offered both a Mindfulness and a general Wellness Workshop series, each of which included various topics and didactic experiences for student-athletes to learn more effective coping skills for managing the stressors of being a student-athlete during a pandemic. Beginning in the spring of 2020 and extending through the spring 2021 semester, Duke Body First, a peer-led workshop series designed to help female student-athletes enhance body confidence and optimize their nutritional fueling, facilitated 9 separate workshop series and included 43 different student-athletes. The Behavioral Health Department also contributed oversight to Morgan's Messengers, a group led by student-athletes to educate and advocate about the importance of mental wellness in Athletics.

Investment

The Athletic Department and associated community demonstrated its commitment to student-athlete mental wellness with a substantial donation from Danny and Nancy Katz that will help fund the Behavioral Health Department and enhance research, prevention, and intervention efforts. Additionally, the Behavioral Health department was able to augment their staffing, such that it includes two full-time psychologists, one provisionally licensed counseling extern, and one social work student extern. We were also able to secure a postdoctoral fellowship position for the 2021-2022 academic year.

COMPLIANCE & COMMUNITY SERVICE

COMPLIANCE SUMMARY

Duke University is committed to operating all aspects of its Department of Athletics with integrity and in a manner that is consistent with the letter and spirit of NCAA, ACC and University rules and regulations. The Office of Compliance is tasked with ensuring institutional control through coordination, monitoring and verifying compliance. This includes education of Department of Athletics personnel and appropriate institutional faculty and staff regarding NCAA, ACC and University policies and procedures.

Throughout the 2020-21 year as everything involving collegiate athletics remained very fluid in regards to NCAA rules, recruiting regulations and eligibility, the Duke compliance office maintained consistent lines of communication despite not having direct access to coaches and staffs. They extended their annual compliance education sessions virtually to all areas of the athletic department. Additionally, as the Name Image and Likeness era approaches, the Duke Compliance Office held a virtual education session open to all student-athletes and athletics staff members. The office continues to stay in touch with everyone regarding the constantly changing legislation coming down the pipe.

The Office of Compliance maintains an open-door policy and fields questions from coaches, athletics department personnel, student-athletes, boosters and members of the community at-large. The Office of Compliance is dedicated to institutional control by providing educational programs and interpretive support to ensure that all coaches, staff, student-athletes and other individuals involved with the athletics program understand and adhere to the NCAA, ACC and University's compliance expectations.

The Office of Compliance has implemented monitoring procedures and educational programs that provide guidance on how the Department of Athletics can operate within the rules and expectations of the NCAA, ACC, and University. Each individual within the Department of Athletics is obligated to maintain competency in knowledge of rules, to act within his or her realms of responsibility while maintaining full compliance with the rules, and to report any information concerning possible violations of NCAA and ACC legislation or institutional policy to his/her supervisor, the Office of Compliance, or other senior administrative staff, including the Faculty Athletics Representative, in a prompt manner.

For information, contact via email: duke-compliance@duke.edu

MISSION STATEMENT

The Duke University Athletics Compliance Office takes pride in ensuring that Duke student-athletes, coaches, staff and supporters observe and abide by the rules that govern collegiate athletics. The Duke Athletics department is founded on integrity. Through a combination of communication, education and consistent monitoring, the Office of Athletics Compliance is committed to ensuring that all those involved with Duke Athletics uphold the rules of the NCAA, the ACC and the University.

COMMUNITY SUMMARY

While many opportunities to serve the Durham community were paused over the last year due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Duke student-athletes remained committed to service learning projects and outreach. Blue Devils across all athletic programs participated in virtual and remote community service projects during the 2020-21 academic year, including:

- Special Olympics
- The Center for Volunteer Care Giving
- Project Share
- Team Impact
- Duke One Love
- Duke BEC (Benefits Enrollment Center)
- Duke University Help Desk
- Keep Durham Beautiful
- Duke Teenage Cancer Center
- Salvation Army
- PHA (Pulmonary Hypertension Association)

- Redesigned travel guide and promotions pages on GoDuke.com.
- Migrated more than 6,000 videos into the SIDEARM CMS.
- Partnered with OIT to create an app dedicated to monitoring and rewarding fan and student event attendance.
- Launched a "we played" moments partnership to enrich event video coverage.

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS

LEARFIELD IMG COLLEGE

- Learfield IMG College is the unquestioned leader in college multimedia rights.
- Duke University Athletics signed a 12-year extension with Learfield IMG College, the Blue Devils' exclusive multimedia rights holder. Duke Athletics and Learfield IMG College have been partners since July 2009 and their recently agreed upon contract extension expires June 30, 2032.
- The partnership bundles media, sponsorship, in-venue advertising and technology rights into one contract and grows sponsorship revenue for Athletics.

PHOTOGRAPHY

- Provided studio images of athletes from all 27 sports for the communications, marketing and digital teams.
- Loaded images to digital asset management system (DAM) to WEBDAM, enabling university wide access.
- Covered almost all home sporting events.
- Worked within COVID-19 protocols to provide the same level of coverage as previous years.

TICKET OFFICE

- Ran ticket operations for 2021 undergraduate commencement, as well as seven graduate school celebrations.
- Transitioned to a new ticketing system for an enhanced fan experience, expanding mobile capabilities and improving game day operations.
- Implemented the use of a new complimentary admissions portal for student-athletes.
- Managed ticket operations for 1st & 2nd rounds of NCAA Women's Lacrosse Tournament.

MARKETING & PROMOTIONS

- Produced more than 850 cutouts for the fall, winter and spring sports as a way to engage fans not in attendance and produce revenue for the department.
- Launched KaraEra.com microsite to serve as a one-stop shop for promoting the hiring of Duke women's basketball head coach, Kara Lawson, including information and statistics about Coach Lawson, her introductory press conference, quotes from individuals in the college basketball community on the hiring and Duke women's basketball season ticket information.
- Developed a Virtual Platform to host students for the first ever Virtual K-Ville, in order to keep the tradition of tenting alive while staying safe during the COVID-19 pandemic. The virtual K-Ville housed within the Bleachr app, featured video contests, live events and exclusive content for students throughout the Duke Basketball season.
- To kick off the basketball season with our normal Countdown to Crazy event, we developed 'Countdown the Movie', and then hosted the movie premier with our players and coaches. The "movie premiere" was streamed live for player parents & special guests via the Bleachr App. The virtual event featured guests in the virtual stands, watching the red carpet walk and live player reactions to 'Countdown the Movie'.
- Fan Engagement Zoom Events
 - Hosted Football Virtual Trivia Nights throughout the summer to engage fans leading up to the season.
 - Hosted a Watch Party for the Premier League Lacrosse Chrome vs Redwoods game which had approximately eight Duke men's lacrosse alumni playing across the two teams. Current head coach John Danowski hosted the event and provided play by play to the game while fans watched on a second screen.
 - Organized a watch party for Duke women's lacrosse alumni to watch the pregame talk in the locker room and on-field warm-ups prior to the Duke vs North Carolina game at home.
 - Hosted virtual zooms for parents to watch senior day ceremonies from on the field for numerous sports. Parents and student-athletes were able to say hi to each other while the student was being recognized.
 - Extended community partnerships with local youth organizations during the pandemic by hosting virtual panels with student-athletes.
 - Hosted a women's basketball season ticket holders virtual event with head coach Kara Lawson. The call was treated as a meet-and-greet, with fans being able to submit questions ahead of time as well as ask questions live.
- With no fans in the stands, created virtual fan contests that ran throughout certain games on social media, including photo submissions showing "gameday" setups and attire, virtual t-shirt tosses, hat trick retweets, virtual bingo and interactive videogames.
- New LED lighting system was installed in Cameron Indoor Stadium that will feature custom light shows and effects for future sporting events. Light shows have been completely customized to Duke traditional songs, videos and gameday features for each sport that competes in Cameron Indoor Stadium.

IRON DUKES

ANNUAL FUND

The Iron Dukes Annual Fund provides much needed funding for athletic scholarships and we encourage all athletics donors to make annual giving a priority. Annual gifts to the Iron Dukes Annual Fund afford outstanding student-athletes the opportunity to pursue a Duke education while competing at the highest level. With a single scholarship valued at nearly $85,000, Duke Athletics' expenditures add up quickly.

VARSITY CLUB

Annual gifts to the Iron Dukes Varsity Club go directly to work for our 27 varsity sports. These gifts allow Duke coaches to provide resources that are not traditionally covered in the annual budget such as provide nutrition and recovery foods now allowable under NCAA guidelines, supplement in season and post season travel, purchase training and player development equipment and accomplish individual team projects. To be sure, Varsity Club gifts help us to enhance the Duke student-athlete experience and build champions.

CAPITAL PROJECTS & ENDOWMENTS

To continue the quest for excellence both in the classroom and in competition, Duke must enhance facilities to meet or exceed the modern standards of an elite athletics program without compromising our history and tradition. Philanthropic gifts above and beyond Iron Dukes Annual Fund support makes these facilities possible. Endowment level gifts provide Duke student-athletes with benefits resulting from the perpetuity of the gift. These gifts ranging from $100,000 - $5,000,000+ provide long term sustainability for our athletic programs by funding scholarships and providing additional operating support.

PLANNED GIVING

While outright gifts provide vital resources for the University today, deferred gifts can help shape Duke's future. For more information on making a deferred or planned gift visit giving.duke.edu/giftplanning or call (919) 613-7575.

YOUNG IRON DUKES & JUNIOR IRON DUKES

For $50, young adults ninth grade to 22 years old can enroll as Young Iron Dukes. For $30, children 8th grade and younger will be enrolled as members of the Junior Iron Dukes. All Young Iron Dukes and Junior Iron Dukes members earn Iron Dukes priority points.

DUKE BASKETBALL LEGACY FUND

The Duke Basketball Legacy Fund is a unique and intimate donor program established to endow the basketball program as well as finance basketball related projects. The Legacy Fund aims to establish a comprehensive endowment fund for players' scholarships and coaches' salaries, as well as building a capital fund to help enhance historic Cameron Indoor Stadium and meet the overall demands of the program well into the future.

IRON DUKES

LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

PROGRAMS FOR STAFF & COACHES

MIDDLE MANAGEMENT LEADERSHIP SERIES

The focus of the Middle Management Leadership Series was to enhance the skills of Athletic Department staff at the middle management level who have program and staff oversight. Participants first focused on the strengths they bring to the workplace along with their most effective leadership, communication and motivation styles. Additional topics include identifying and developing leadership credibility, leading a team, multi-directional management, creating great workplace environments, bringing value and purpose to their departments and handling change. A mentorship program is also included, as participants are paired with a member of the Athletic Department's Senior Leadership staff to assist in their continued growth as leaders.

COACHES

Much like captains and team leaders, coaches must make servant leadership more of a priority during challenging times. This was a priority for the four coaches meetings that occurred during the calendar year. In addition to servant leadership, team culture was a focus of the meetings. Coaches had an opportunity to share best practices for developing and maintaining healthy team culture. In particular, team cohesion, team morale, mental health and proper decision making were discussed in detail.

SENIOR STAFF

The focus of the leadership series for senior staff leadership series centered around two major areas - defining purpose and effective sports supervision. We met with senior staff on a monthly basis and through large and small group discussions, assisted them in redefining their collective purpose as a team. Because effective communication and consistency of leadership from this group are paramount, redefining the collective purpose helped this group become more cohesive and consistent in these areas. The latter part of the year focused on sharing best practices for effective supervising sports within the athletic department. Through rich discussion, there was agreement for a need to have consistent practices among various sports. Discussions on this topic will continue into the upcoming academic year.

STAFF BOOK CLUB

The book club continued this year. Because we were unable to finish the Middle Management Leadership (MML) series in Spring 2020 nor conduct a new series beginning Fall 2021, the opportunity to read a leadership book and share ideas around it was provided to anyone who participated in the MML series in the 2019-20 academic year. The book that was chosen was "Dare to Lead: Brave Work, Tough Conversations, Whole Hearts" by Brené Brown. In her book, Brown discussed the importance of leaders embracing vulnerability and being able to have hard conversations with others. The book club met once a month for a total of nine meetings and had rich discussions about the material. Each session was conducted in person as well as virtual as some participants were unable to attend sessions in person.

FIRST YEAR ACTION LEADERSHIP PROGRAM

The A.C.T.I.O.N. Mentoring Program is a vital part of the transition to college for first-year student-athletes. With approximately 40 upperclass student-athletes co-leading small group discussions and serving as mentors, six first-year A.C.T.I.O.N. meetings were held this year all virtual during COVID-19 with topics ranging from Mental Health and Healthy Relationships, to Career Development and navigating difficult situations with Duke WBB Alumna, Sue Monroe Gordon. The first meeting was a welcome and kick off with Kara Lawson encouraging embracing new situations and being "new" at Duke with our unique COVID-19 year.

PROGRAMS FOR STUDENT-ATHLETES

LEADERSHIP ENRICHMENT & DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM (L.E.A.D.)

The Duke Athletics L.E.A.D. Retreat, normally was both in the Fall and Spring semesters at Quaker Lake Camp in Climax, N.C., was put on temporary hold due to COVID-19 in helping our programs "Keep Playing" safely. The feedback from coaches and students was more mental health zoom fatigue, so rather than pushing for two hours online, we opted to honor a "rest" period for this program. Looking ahead to 2021-22, we are excited to be bringing LEAD back to overnight in-person format with diverse group of fully vaccinated and eager to learn student-athletes. This coming Fall, 2021, spring and winter sports teams will explore their team's culture and the role of leadership within themselves and amongst each other. The LEAD program is made possible in part by a generous donation from the Bob Heidrick Family.

CAPTAIN'S PROGRAM

Because of the extenuating circumstances surrounding the pandemic, the captains program was extended to additional team leaders. The idea was that captains needed more help than usual from their fellow upperclassmen teammates. This group met five times during the academic year. The focus of the meetings was to provide team leaders from all of the teams an opportunity to interact with each other and discuss best practices for leading in challenging times. In addition, a theme was servant leadership. While this approach to leadership is always important, it is needed even more when teams experience adversity.

In addition to larger group meetings and discussions, team leaders from several teams requested to meet with Greg to discuss issues specific to their teams. These discussions led to team leaders having specific strategies they could use to help individuals as well as their respective teams navigate their circumstances.

ACC PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT ACADEMY

Three Duke student-athletes were part of the Atlantic Coast Conference's six-week Professional Development Academy, an interactive virtual program that engaged more than 130 current and former ACC student-athletes focused on enhancing personal and career goals.

From the Blue Devils, Finn Hossfield (Fencing), Kyle Foltz (Track & Field) and Jack Coylar (Football) were Duke's participants as student-athletes from each of the ACC's 15 member institutions completed the program.

The Academy's curriculum, designed and delivered by student-athlete development administrators from ACC member institutions, assisted participants in learning core values, identifying and developing circles of influence, establishing effective communication and leadership skills, and charting career plans.

In addition to multiple educational sessions, the Academy featured guest speakers who shared personal stories and tips for success. The list included Victoria Garrick, former women's volleyball student-athlete at the University of Southern California and founder of The Hidden Opponent, an organization created to raise awareness for student-athlete mental health; Jay Bilas, ESPN men's basketball analyst and former Duke men's basketball student-athlete; Dion Williams, a national recruiter for NASCAR's Drive for Diversity Pit Crew Development Program and former Wake Forest football student-athlete; and Lamarr Pottinger, NCAA Associate Director of Leadership Development and former track student-athlete at Eastern Illinois.

The seminar was launched to meet the needs of student-athletes whose summer plans were negatively affected by COVID-19.

RECREATION & PHYSICAL EDUCATION

ABOUT DUKE RECREATION & PHYSICAL EDUCATION

In an undoubtedly unique year, Duke Recreation & Physical Education took an innovative and tireless approach to providing diverse and engaging programming to the Duke Community.

Facilities reopened in September thanks to a comprehensive reopening protocol that allowed for a safe respite for students on campus.

Programmers creatively transitioned their opportunities to virtual formats, all housed under the newly established Digital Membership that was able to serve beyond the University community.

Physical Education classes thrived in expanded learning environments for both activity and lecture courses.

While in-person participation was primarily limited to a smaller population of on-campus students, positive impact was felt among those who in some way utilized Rec & P.E. programs, services and facilities.

In a survey sent to student members in November 2020 and April 2021, a considerable number of users indicated a variety of benefits to their well-being as a result of visits to Wilson Recreation Center and Taishoff Aquatics Pavilion. Notable themes identified by survey participants for each semester include:

- Improved physical health
- Improved mental health
- Relieved stress
- Increased happiness
- Supported academic success

As the campus and world embarked on reflection and forward movement in social justice, Duke Rec & P.E. also implemented an internal racial climate assessment.

This was the principal step of a process for identifying critical issues related to racial discrimination and institutional racism within Rec & P.E., Duke's campus, and our communities. The goal of this assessment was to establish a foundational understanding of how Duke Rec & P.E. professional staff articulate, perceive and address the racial climate within our facilities and programs.

Duke Rec & P.E. has and will continue to use the information from this assessment to provide further opportunities for education, understanding and action to work towards a climate of anti-racism.

STUDENT PARTICIPANT FEEDBACK

"I not only felt myself getting stronger, but just being in a space dedicated to improving my physical fitness helped motivate my mental well-being and alleviated a lot of my stress." (Fall 2020)

"Was one of the most important, if not the most important thing that helped my well-being. Having a gym and just being able to work out every day helped me get so much stronger physically, and was just an amazing place to relieve stress too. Was probably the single most important place for my mental health." (Fall 2020)

"I think the PE classes I've taken, and the experiences and friends I've gained through them, improved the quality of my life more than any academic class could." (Spring 2021)

"I think the PE classes I've taken, and the experiences and friends I've gained through them, improved the quality of my life more than any academic class could." (Spring 2021)

"It's a very welcoming environment! The staff are friendly and I find that the people who frequently go to the weight/cardio room are willing to help if you need it! The gym definitely positively affected my experience this semester." (Spring 2021)

While off the field, 736 Club Members remained actively connected to their Club, mimicking participation in an active, competitive year

11,685 interactions across Rec & P.E. social media channels

RESOURCE ACQUISITION

2020-21 ACCOMPLISHMENTS

- Served as day-to-day contact with Blue Devil Learfield-IMG College to assist with sponsorship sales, implementation, and revenue generation through athletics' marketing rights holder. Worked to try and mitigate revenue loss due to the COVID-19 pandemic and no fans in venues.
- Rebuilt GoDuke.com/Experiences website to highlight premium event space rentals, catering options and present a clearer picture of what is available for meeting, event, wedding and non-gameday rentals with Duke Athletics.
- Revamped the process with Duke Athletics Resource Acquisition & Trident Provisions for meeting, party and event rentals of premium athletic spaces. Worked closely with several campus entities to grow relationships for campus events.
- Took time during the shutdown to look at game day & event operations for the Blue Devil Tower to prepare for the 2021-22 return with new plans for operations, game day service on the DeJoy Family & Delta Suite levels, and commitment to safety while providing the best fan experience in the Tower.
- Continued to produce and distribute monthly Duke Experiences newsletter and other communication to donors, campus clients and contacts, and area community related to event spaces and gameday premium areas.
- Assisted with setup of Duke COVID-19 vaccination clinic in Blue Devil Tower as well as other pandemic related gameday and operations activities around football, basketball, soccer, lacrosse and tennis.
- Assisted Duke University by managing ticketing, facility operations, content and performances for its year-end socially-distanced "Senior Night in Wallace Wade Stadium" that welcomed 575 seniors.
- Worked closely with Trident Provisions to implement Duke Athletics concessions transition with target of 2021 football season for them to take over and run gameday concessions at all venues.
- Maintained Courtesy Car/Dealer Program to support sports programs, operations and training staffs while continuing relationships with 23 dealers providing more than 34 vehicles.

NUTRITION & SPORTS PERFORMANCE

SPORTS NUTRITION MISSION STATEMENT

The mission of the Duke Sports Nutrition Department is to foster an environment that promotes optimal fueling for high-quality performance in sports, academics and life. Additionally, to support student-athletes in achieving lifelong health and wellness.

NEW IN 2020-21

The Sports Nutrition Department got creative during the COVID-19 year by implementing new virtual education programs, social media resources and individual counseling - both in person and via Zoom. Given the distancing and food service restrictions, the Nutrition team implemented the Olympics Sport Snack Bag program to continue to fuel the Blue Devils without the normal operations of the Fuel Zone. The department looks forward to operating as normal for the 2021-22 school year!

Duke was one of 10 host sites in the country for the Gatorade Sports Nutrition Immersion Program (SNIP) for the second consecutive year. The Gatorade SNIP is a prestigious program matching veteran sports dietitians with an entry-level sports RD looking for mentorship and growth within the field. Beth (Miller) McCall had the opportunity to mentor Becky Saucedo for the year as Becky served as a fifth sports dietitian working within the department.

SPORTS NUTRITION DEPARTMENT SERVICES

- Team nutrition education
- Individual nutrition counseling
- Team travel services
- Grocery store tours
- Dining hall education
- Training Table presence and education
- Pre and post-workout education at Gatorade Fuel Bars
- Hydration assistance and education
- Sports Nutrition handbook
- Sports Nutrition cookbook

SPORTS PERFORMANCE

Duke Sports Performance aims to provide all 27 Duke Athletics teams with a competitive edge by empowering each athlete to achieve personal and athletic success through high-level, challenging sports performance plans.

Olympic Sports Performance opened its operation in the Scott Family Athletic Performance Center August 1, 2016. This state-of-the-art facility features 13,000 square feet of training space for Duke's 24 Olympic Sports programs, including 35 training stations custom-designed by Sorinex Exercise Equipment specifically for Duke, each with mounted iPads for workout-monitoring and real-time video review of movement training. The facility houses a 50-yard-long, turf-covered running space, a Gatorade Fuel Bar with smoothie stations, fresh produce and yogurt, healthy snacks, a wide variety of grab-and-go items and all of Gatorade's pre and post-workout fueling products, as well as a Keiser performance area and a variety of additional training equipment from the top brands in the industry, including Iron Grip, Woodway, FreeLap and Run Rocket.

The Scott Family Athletic Performance Center houses facilities for all Duke Olympic sports, while the Yoh Building services the Duke football team and the Michael Krzyzewski Center for Academic and Athletic Excellence is the training home of the men's and women's basketball teams. All are state-of-the-art facilities that feature top-of-the-line equipment.

Renovations for the Duke football team's performance center in the Yoh Building were completed in June, 2017. Updates to the room included new flooring by Plae, as well as platforms that are set into the floor instead of being elevated. New weight racks were installed by Sorinex Exercise Equipment. The Gatorade Fuel Bar, which was installed in 2015, remains and enables players to make their own shakes with protein, fresh fruit and yogurt that help keep them nourished and aid in recovery following practice and weight training.

STUDENT-ATHLETE DEVELOPMENT

SUMMARY

The student-athlete development program at Duke complements the University and Athletics Departments' commitment to excellence by enhancing interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes, empowering student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities, promoting respect for and appreciation of diversity and encouraging the development of leadership skills.

Programs supported by Student-Athlete Development include:

- Personal Development
- Community Service
- Career Development
- Leadership
- Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC)

Student-Athlete Development works to provide student-athletes with opportunities for personal growth, professional preparation and development and involvement in community service.

SAAC continued to meet virtually each month and be active in department DEI efforts and discussions while working with subcommittees to help educate peers via social media campaigns on NCAA legislation, voting and social justice initiatives.

Summer 2020 Duke Student-Athlete Career Development Information Sessions and Workshops: Hosted 30 virtual sessions for all student-athletes that included company information sessions and career development workshops.

Fall 2020 Duke Student-Athlete Virtual Career Networking Week: Hosted over 30 companies the week of October 26 to provide student-athletes the opportunity to network with different companies that are interested in hiring them for internships and full-time positions. Over 20 former Duke student-athletes participated as a representative from the various companies.

Spring 2021 Duke Student Athlete Virtual Career Night: Hosted over 20 companies on March 30 to provide student-athletes with the opportunity to network with different companies that are interested in hiring them for internships and full-time positions.

Community Service Virtual Opportunities:

- Team Impact
- Coach 2 Inspire
- Strong Girls United
- Duke Medical Benefits Enrollment Center
- Project Share
- Special Olympics
- Bull City Fit

MEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

ACC FINISH: 5TH | NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS FINISH: 16TH

SEASON SUMMARY

Despite a COVID-19 affected season, men's cross country delivered several highlights in the 2020 campaign. For the first time since 2012, men's cross country qualified for the NCAA Championships and entered as an unranked unit, but finished 16th overall, besting four top-15 teams. The showing was the best by the men's program since 2001, when that team finished 14th overall.

It was a big year for senior CJ Ambrosio, who helped anchor the men's unit with the top finish in three of six events. Ambrosio recorded the best individual finish when he took second at the Virginia/Panorama Farms Invitational on October 16. He also earned All-ACC honors by taking 16th at the ACC Championships.

As a team, men's cross country delivered two second place finishes at the Virginia Tech Invitational on September 25 and Virginia Panorama Fams Invitational on October 16.

The program's high academic standards also carried over, with four men being named to the All-ACC Academic Team. Ambrosio, Zach Kinne, Josh Romine and Chris Theodore were named to the annual team and as a unit, the program recorded a 3.38 GPA.

WOMEN'S CROSS COUNTRY

ACC FINISH: 4TH | NCAA CHAMPIONSHIPS FINISH: 27TH

SEASON SUMMARY

The Duke women's cross country team turned in a season full of highlights and top marks, while overcoming the COVID-19 related scheduling changes in 2020-21. The program made its return to the NCAA Championships for the first time since 2012.

Senior Michaela Reinhart helped lead the charge for the Blue Devils, finishing in the top spot in four of the team's five races. Reinhart was one of two Blue Devils to earn All-ACC honors (joining Samantha Schadler) and her finish of fourth at the ACC Championships was the best by a Blue Devil since 2013.

Senior Amanda Beach also had a big year, winning the Virginia/Panorama Farms Invitational with a 5K run of 16:53.00, setting a personal best. It marked the second win of her collegiate career and propelled the women to their first team victory at a race since the 2018-19 campaign, as the team finished with 23 points to win in the three team field.

MEN'S FENCING

OVERALL: 7-3 | ACC: 1st | NCAA: 3rd

SEASON RECAP

The men's fencing team produced another solid year during 2021 despite the shortened season due to COVID-19 protocols in place. The Blue Devils went 7-3 overall as they captured their second ACC team title in program history, defeating Boston College and North Carolina in a tiebreaker to claim gold. Additionally, Finn Hossfeld and Stephen Kim captured gold medals in foil and saber, respectively, while Sam Gruber (foil) and Danny Campbell III (epee) collected bronze. Duke swept two of the three ACC Fencer of the Year awards as Hossfeld and Kim earned the honors. Five Blue Devils qualified for the NCAA Championship: Finn Hossfeld, Stephen Kim, Ping Ping Kitsiriboon, Jason Post and Brycen Rushing. Hossfeld, Kim and Rushing all earned All-America honors with Hossfeld finishing tied for third place in foil. Sam Gruber, Finn Hossfeld, Stephen Kim, Jason Post and Brycen Rushing were tabbed to the All-ACC Academic team.

WOMEN'S FENCING

OVERALL: 8-2 | ACC CHAMPIONS | NCAA: 3rd

SEASON RECAP

The women's fencing team produced another solid year during 2021 despite the shortened season due to COVID-19 protocols in place. The Blue Devils went 8-2 overall as they captured their first ACC team title in program history, defeating Boston College and North Carolina to claim gold. Duke swept gold in the individual event as Zoe Superville (foil), Alex Gorman (saber) and Huda Aldadah (epee) claimed their respective crowns. Julia Gianneschi (2nd), Lulu Tang (3rd) & Chloe Beittel (3rd) also brought hardware back to Durham as Superville was tabbed MVP of the championship. Duke swept the ACC Fencer of the Year awards while head coach Alex Beguinat was named Coach of the Year. Christina Ferrari, Alex Gorman, Sarah Lurye, Lulu Tang & Anneke Zegers qualified for the NCAA Championship and all earned All-America honors with their performances. Huda Aldadah, Christina Ferrari, Alex Gorman, Julia Gianneschi, Maria Papadopoulos, Zoe Superville, Lulu Tang & Anneke Zegers were named to the All-ACC Academic team.

SEASON RECAP

The Blue Devils were led by All-ACC performers in S Michael Carter II, DE Victor Dimukeje and DE Chris Rumph II. All three were selected in the 2021 NFL Draft with Rumph II going in the fourth round to the Los Angeles Chargers, Carter II in the fifth round to the New York Jets and Dimukeje in the sixth round to the Arizona Cardinals. Also being taken in the draft was TE Noah Gray, who was selected by the Kansas City Chiefs in the fifth round. The four Blue Devils chosen during the three-day event were the most since four choices in 1973. Duke's four picks in 2021 also set a program record for most selections within the first seven rounds.

Rumph II graduated third all-time in career sacks (17.5) and 10th in career tackles for loss (34.0). Dimukeje finished second all-time in career sacks (21.5) and tied Mike Junkin (1983-86) for eighth all-time on the career tackles for loss list (36.0). Carter II concluded his career with 24 pass breakups, which placed him tied with Quinton McCracken (1988-91) for 10th all-time in program history. Gray broke a 57-year-old program record in 2020 when he surpassed Stan Crisson to become Duke's career leader in receptions by a tight end with 105.

Two other Blue Devils earned accolades last season as C Graham Barton and P Porter Wilson were both named Freshmen All-Americans by The Athletic. A league-high 11 Duke players were selected to the 2020 All-ACC Academic team as well, marking the 12th season in which the Blue Devils have led the conference in choices.

Off the field, the Blue Devils had numerous award winners and finalists highlighted by Rakavius Chambers being named to the AFCA Good Works Team, making him the 12th Duke player to earn the prestigious honor and ninth in the last 10 years. Carter II was selected a semifinalist for the William V. Campbell Trophy and the Jason Witten Collegiate Man of the Year Award, Dimukeje was named a semifinalist for the Lott IMPACT Trophy, while LS John Taylor and Wilson were semifinalists for the Patrick Mannely and Ray Guy Award, respectively.

SEASON RECAP

Duke finished its 2021 season 11-8 overall and 4-6 in the ACC that included a trip to the NCAA quarterfinals. The Blue Devils were tabbed No. 8 in the nation by the IWLCA with four victories over ranked opponents. Junior Maddie Jenner was selected a 2021 Tewaaratton nominee while Jenner and graduate student Gabby Rosenzweig were selected IWLCA All-Americans. Rosenzweig paced the Blue Devils with 65 points as Katie Cronin tallied 30 goals. Jenner once again dominated the draw control with 187 this season and finished the year ranked third in the nation in draw controls per game (9.84). Jenner (1st), Rosenzweig (1st) and Callie Humphrey (2nd) were named All-ACC as Katie DeSimone was named to the All-Freshman Team. Senior Catriona Barry and graduate student Catherine Cordrey surpassed the 100-point plateau for their careers while Barry, Olivia Carner, Katie Cosgrove, Caroline DeBellis, Eva Greco, Humphrey, Jenner and Rosenzweig were named to the All-ACC Academic Team for their successes in the classroom.

SEASON RECAP

The Duke rowing team returned to action for the 2021 spring campaign after the majority of the 2020 season was canceled by the COVID-19 pandemic. With their sights set on an ACC medal and an appearance at the NCAA Championships, the Blue Devils opened the spring by claiming their fifth consecutive Carolina Cup in Clemson, S.C. Duke followed up by winning nine races at the Virginia Invite against highly ranked competition. Depth proved to be a key component of the Blue Devils' success, as the team's Varsity Eight, Second Varsity Eight, Third Varsity Eight and Varsity Four boats each collected four or more wins on the season. The V8 was twice named the ACC Crew of the Week, while the 2V8 garnered the award once. Duke and North Carolina co-hosted the second installment of the Lake Wheeler Invitational from April 23-24, with the Blue Devils successfully defending their 2019 crown in the regatta. The team returned to Clemson for the ACC Championship in May, earning silver for the third time in the past five seasons. Duke took second in the V8, V4 and 3V8 races, while the 2V8 and 2V4 each finished third. Three members of the V8 lineup were named to the All-ACC teams, as juniors Sydney Johnson and Gabriella Salvati took home first-team honors while graduate student Tara Fagan picked up second-team status. The ACC result helped the Duke program secure its third bid to the NCAA Championship in Sarasota, Fla., where the Blue Devils finished 16th in the team standings with 55 points. The 2V8 claimed the top finish in the C Final, while the V4 closed out the year with a third-place result in the Petite Final and the V8 took fourth in its C Final. The Blue Devils remained in the top 20 of the Pocock/CRCA national poll, climbing to No. 9 in March and ending the season ranked No. 16.

SEASON RECAP

The Duke men's soccer team battled its way through an incredibly unique 2020-21 campaign. The Blue Devils finished 4-10-3, playing a tough schedule packed with games against ACC foes in both the fall and the spring.

Highlighting the season was the play of the newcomers as Duke landed four on the ACC All-Freshman Team, the most in program history. Additionally, freshman Peter Stroud garnered All-ACC third team honors and was voted by his teammates as both the Rookie of the Year and the team's Most Valuable Player.

Freshman Thorleifur Ulfarsson arrived on campus in the middle of the season and proceeded to lead the team in scoring with four goals, including scoring the team's first hat trick since 2015.

With the departure of four-year starting goalkeeper Will Pulisic after the fall portion of the season, junior Eliot Hamill stepped right in to fill the big shoes. Hamill saw his first action as a Blue Devil and helped Duke post three shutouts.

SEASON RECAP

In a shortened 2020-21 season, the Duke men battled through adversity to compete at the highest stage. Three Blue Devils swam school records, as David Hallaron, Cole Reznick and Matthew Whelan rewrote the record book in the 500-yard freestyle, 200 individual medley and 100 butterfly, respectively. Duke capped the season by sending Whelan (50 free, 100 and 200 fly) and freshman Seamus Harding Jr. (platform diving) to the first NCAA Championship of their respective careers.

SEASON RECAP

The Duke women's swimming and diving team responded to challenges that the COVID-19 pandemic presented and enjoyed a successful 2020-21 season. The Blue Devils saw two school records fall during the year as Foley broke the 200 breast record before Shuppert took the 100 back record at the NCAA Championship. Sophomore Ali Watson earned All-ACC honors in platform diving for the second consecutive year, becoming the first Blue Devil diver to earn back-to-back honors in the same event since Olympian Abby Johnston did so in 2010 and 2011. Duke saw Shuppert (100 back), Watson (platform diving) and Maddi Pullinger (one-meter diving) be named All-Americans for their performances at the NCAA Championship. The Blue Devils' three All-Americans marked the first time in program history that Duke has had three or more All-Americans in three consecutive seasons.

SEASON HIGHLIGHTS

- After holding a top-40 ranking throughout the entire season and coming in at No. 36 in the final Oracle/Intercollegiate Tennis Association (ITA) poll, Duke concluded the 2020-21 year with a 12-11 mark, including a 6-5 record in ACC play. For those efforts the Blue Devils earned an at-large bid to the NCAA Team Championships for the 22nd time in the last 25 seasons.
- Highlights from the year were Duke's four-match win streak from Feb. 12-28; two wins over ranked opponents, including a thrilling 4-2 comeback win over No. 41 Miami; three players earning All-ACC recognition; and three players with 10-plus singles wins led by sophomore Andrew Zhang who earned a 13-5 mark on the year.
- Sophomore Garrett Johns was the lone Blue Devil ranked in the final ITA singles rankings, while he and teammate Sean Sculley finished ranked in the final ITA doubles rankings.

SEASON RECAP

For the first time in school history, Duke had six Blue Devils receive ITA All-America recognition as Duke made a run into the NCAA quarterfinals. Kelly Chen, Georgia Drummy, Chloe Beck, Meible Chi, Margaryta Bilokin and Karolina Berankova received All-America honors. The Blue Devils upset eighth-ranked Baylor, 4-3, in the second round and then upended UCF, 4-3, in the final 16, before giving top-ranked North Carolina a run for its money. Drummy and Chen advanced to the final 16 in the NCAA singles competition.

VOLLEYBALL

OVERALL: 9-13 | ACC: 7-10

SEASON RECAP

The Duke volleyball team went 9-13 overall and 7-10 in conference play in the 2020-21 season. Duke started off strong in the fall season, going 6-2. Mackenzie Cole, Ade Owokoniran and Payton Schwantz were named to the All-ACC Team while Cole and Owokoniran also earned AVCA All-East Coast Region honors for their efforts throughout the season. Cole and Schwantz both surpassed milestones this year as Cole reached the 1,000-dig plateau to Schwantz' 1,000-kill mark. Statistically, Owokoniran led the team with 243 kills while setter Alex Springate dished 551 assists for a 6.48 assist/set average. Cole paced the defensive unit with 396 total digs. Cole and Schwantz were named to the All-ACC Academic Team for their successes in the classroom and assistant coach Kellie Catanach Johnson was tabbed AVCA Thirty Under 30.

WRESTLING

SEASON RECAP

Facing a COVID-19 shortened season, Duke wrestling continued its stretch of strong athletic and academic performance.

It was a big year for Josh Finesilver, who put together another well-rounded campaign. Finesilver was able to qualify for the 2021 NCAA Championship in the 149 pound division, extending Head Coach Glen Lanham's mark of consecutive NCAA qualifiers in his tenure as head coach to nine in a row.

Finesilver qualified for the event after placing third in the ACC Championships in his weight class. The Greenwood Village, Colo., native put together a big season in which he went 3-2 in ACC play and 9-5 overall, defeating a career-high three ranked opponents in the NCAA Championship.

While falling in the opening round of the NCAA Championship, Finesilver would go on to win three straight, falling just shy of All-America status in the fourth bout. Finesilver's shining moment came in the second round of the wrestleback draw, where he defeated the No. 5 wrestler in the nation from Nebraska via fall, 2:50 into the match. Finesilver has now recorded 51 wins in his three seasons at Duke.

Freshman Login Agin also emerged as a strong competitor in the 125 pound class, winning three bouts this year. Agin nearly qualified for the NCAA Championship himself, earning a quarterfinal win at the ACC Championships.

It was another strong year in the classroom as well, with Finesilver being named to the All-ACC Academic Team and the NWCA All-Academic Team. That gives Lanham at least one student-athlete on the NWCA All-Academic Team in every year he's been a head coach.
